BPW at the IAA show in Hanover

With more than 2,000 exhibitors from over 50 countries in the world, the 66th International Truck and Trailer show in Hanover, Germany, was a global showcase of transport solutions and innovation at its best!

Key industry decision makers, either exhibiting or just visiting to see what's new, were warmly welcomed at the BPW stand in Hall 26. BPW proudly displayed its capabilities in eMobility with an electric drive axle aimed at smaller city bound delivery vehicles, while the stand accentuated our strengths with associated brands like idemTelematics, the Hestral range and the offerings from Ermax and HBN TEKnik.

The BPW "MobSys" theme - mobility and system partnership - communicated our motto "We Think Transport" to the market with confidence! Our stand won an innovation award for its "Airsave" tyre inflation system, with second place awarded to the ePower wheel hub generator. Both products will now be entering an extensive road testing phase and could be ready for production by early 2018. An award in the category for trailer telematics was won for BPW's modular trailer gateway concept.

Of importance to the South African market is a revised air-light 2 suspension, with a carrying capacity from 9 to 12 ton. And yes, it's intended to take over much of what we do with the SL range at the moment! There will also be an ultra-lightweight option to consider late in 2017.
